Life in Africa.

Rev. Mr. Beachman, a member of the London Wesleyan Mission, has recently returned from a isit from Africa, and in the sketch of the social endition of the negroes inhabiting the gold coast nd its vicinity, he furnishes a truly a viful picture, Scarcely has one of their barbarous and bloody stoms been abandoned, from the earliest period of thich anything is known of them. They will ven pave their court yards, palaces, and even the reets or market-places of their villages or towns ith the skulls of those butchered in the wars, at easts, funerals, or as sacrifices to Bossum. Still their wives and slaves are buried alive with heir deceased husbands or masters. When Adaanzen died, two hundred and eighty of his wives ere butchered before the arrival of his successor, hich put a step to it, only to increase the flow of good and the number of deaths in other ways. he remaining living wives were buried alive, amid ancing, singing and bewailing, the noise of musets, horns, drums, yells, groans, and screeches, e women marching by headless trunks, bedaubed emselves with mud and blood. Their victims rough their cheeks. The executioners strug- riages, Open Wagons, superior Boston Chaises. for the bloody office, while the victims look on nd endure with apathy. They were too familiar with e horrid sacrifice to show terror, or to imagine at all was not as it should be. Their hands were hopped off, and then their legs sawed off, and then eir heads sawed off, to prolong the amusement. ven some who assisted to fill the graves were then ustled in alive, in order to add to the sport or somnity of the scene. Upon the death of the ing's brother, four thousand victims were thus acrificed. These ceremonies are often repeated, nd hundreds slaughtered at every rehearsal. Upon he death of a king of Ashantee, a general massare takes place, in which there can be no compuation of the many victims.

At their Yam customs, Mr. Bowditch witnessed pectacles of the most appalling kind. Every ca-ocer, or noble, sacrificed a slave as he entered the rate. Heads and skulls formed the ornaments in their eming blood of the victims was mingled in one vast rass pan, with various vegetables and animal matter resh and putrid, to compose a powerful Fetchie. It these customs the same scenes of butchery and laughter occur. The king's executioners traverse he city, killing all they meet. The next day des-lation reigns over the land. The king, during the loody saturnalia, looked on eagerly and danced in is chair with delight.

The king of Dahomey paves the approaches to is residence, and ornaments the battlements of as palace, with the skulls of his victims; and the rreat Fetchie tree, at Bodagry, has its wide spread imbs laden with human carcasses and limbs. The want of chastity is no disgrace, and the priests are employed as pimps .- Religious Journal.

We have this week to record a most melancholy event, in the sudden death, on the 31st ult. Mr. John Jamon, one of our fellow citizens who as been taken away from us whilst in the prime of ife, and, we believe, up to a few short moments SATURDAY, JUNE 14th. efore his death, in the enjoyment of perfect health. he circumstances are no doubt familiar to most of this community; but the precise cause of death, s explained in the report of the four physicians ho attended at the post-mortem examination, may summed up in a few words, viz. : pulmonary poplexy or congestion of the lungs, and of all the ner organs belonging to the digestive and circuory apparatus, brought on by bathing after dinr in the very cold water at the Falls, below the ing's house in Nuuanu Valley. The reaction hich ordinarily takes place was prevented by a eavy shower of rain, which came on whilst the ecased was dressing. The report of the hasty nown and esteemed, produced a great sensation in is community; and the funeral, which took place n Monday the 2nd inst., according to the Episcoalian service, the Rev. Mr. Paine of H. B. M.'s . Alarm officiating, was attended by a greater umber of persons representing a greater number nations, than we remember to have seen gather-

The Ball given by Prince Kamehameha on hursday night has not ceased to be talked of as a ost brilliant affair. The large Hall of the Court louse, the proportions of which favor such a purose, was elegantly decorated with wreaths, penants, and the flags of all nations. The other arangements were equally happy, and the supper oom in particular called forth much commendation. Never did the ladies of Honolulu appear more deermined to please and be pleased; their robes staid late; the Princess danced for the first time a public; the Prince displayed his usual sacoir lents, Captains Curry and de Marigny were presint, and many other officers of H.
